ARRIVAL INFORMATION Italy Austria Switzerland Germany South Tyrol Bolzano Bressanone Merano Brunico Lienz Innsbruck Munich Bergamo Milano Verona Bologna Venice Trieste St. Moritz Villach Kronplatz Positioned in the heart of Europe, South Tyrol has a good train network, with connecting trains from the Austrian Federal Railways (ÖBB), Italian Trenitalia, as well as Deutsche Bahn (DB). It extends from the western part of the Pustertal valley through the Antholzertal valley and the Gsieser Tal valley, and it reaches to the south as far as the Gaderertal valley. The offer is available only at participating accommodations, ski schools and rentals. Choose between ski passes for Kronplatz-Plan de Corones or Dolomiti Superski. The very heart of the region and, at the same time, what provides its name is the 2,275 m (7,464 ft.) high Plan de Corones-Kronplatz, which is also renowned as the Number One Ski Mountain in South Tyrol-Südtirol. The towns of the region are the medieval city of Bruneck and its associated vacation destinations of St. Lorenzen/S. While in the north, the high mountains of the main ridge of the Alps call out for mountain climbers, cable climbers, and in the winter for ski tourists, that also occurs in the southeast from the legendary, majestic "pale peaks" of the Dolomites, which are a UNESCO World Heritage site. And those who prefer to experience nature in a gentle way go on a voyage of discovery by strolling, hiking, or cycling through the Val Pusteria, exploring its side valleys with the villages so filled with tradition, or visiting Bruneck/Brunico.
